Introduction

When you have included anything from published sources in your work, you must acknowledge it fully and accurately by:

- identifying your sources, in a brief format, in the body of your written work (referred to as an in-text citation).
- providing a detailed list of your sources in alphabetical order at the end of your work (known as a reference list).

The University referencing style is APA 7th, published by the American Psychological Association. Key changes from APA 6th to 7th are summarised below:

APA 6 th (old version)	APA 7 th (new version)
“et al” was only used after five or more authors in the first in-text citation.	In-text citations of a work by three or more authors lists only the first author, followed by “et al”.
Maximum 7 authors for a single work were listed in the reference list.	Up to 20 authors for a single work can be listed in the reference list.
Book references had to include publisher location as well as publisher name (e.g. Abingdon: Taylor & Francis).	Book references only require publisher name, not location (e.g. Taylor & Francis).
If organisation and publisher were the same, both were included.	If organisation and publisher are the same, omit the publisher.
URLs were always preceded with “Retrieved from”.	URLs are no longer preceded by “Retrieved from”.
URLs did not require a retrieval date.	If using an unstable URL, include a retrieval date in the following format: Retrieved July 31, 2020, from https://www...
URLs were not live hyperlinks (e.g. https://www.bbc.co.uk/news).	URLs should be live hyperlinks (e.g. https://www.bbc.co.uk/news) if final document is read online. URLs should not be live hyperlinks if final document is in a printed format.

Some departments use slightly varying rules, so always check your module handbook.

Why reference?

Referencing is important in all academic work for the following reasons:

- to show that you have researched/ read widely and found relevant information.
- to support any claims you have made through reference to an authoritative author on the subject.
- to enable readers of your work to trace the sources used and draw their own conclusions from the original works which you have cited.
- referencing is generally part of the mark scheme for your assignments.

to avoid being accused of plagiarism. This is using someone else's work as your own without acknowledging it. If you do not acknowledge your source(s) you may be guilty of academic misconduct. For more details, please refer to the Regulations for taught students - Academic Misconduct

When do you need to reference?

You should acknowledge your source with a reference whenever you include:

- mention of a theory, fact, argument or viewpoint attributable to a specific person.
- statistics, examples or case studies.
- illustrations or musical examples.
- direct quotations/ paraphrase.

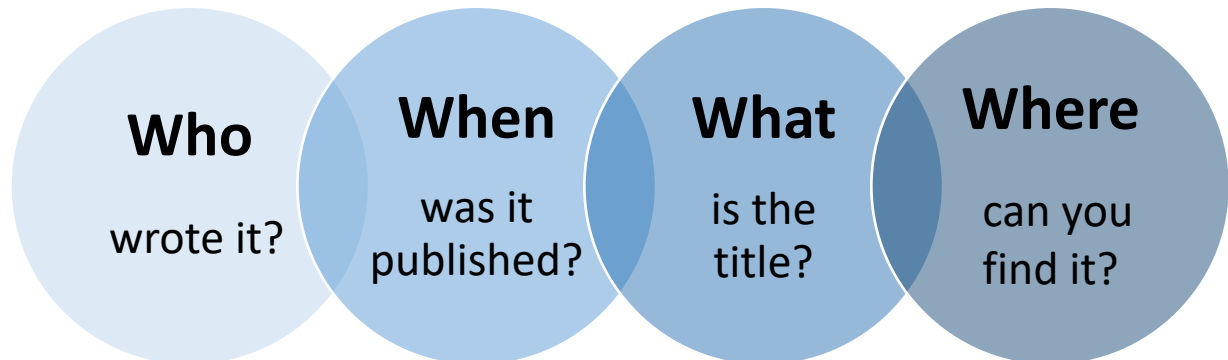

Common knowledge is information that is generally known to a reader so does not require a reference, e.g.

- Paris is the capital of France.
- Water is H₂O.

If in doubt as to whether something is common knowledge or not, please refer to an academic in your department.

Principle of referencing

The principle of referencing is to answer these basic questions about your sources:

There will not be specific guidance for every single source type. Sometimes you may need to find the source that is the closest 'fit'. This may mean using elements from two source types.

These APA 7th reference examples or the printed Publication manual of the American Psychological Association: the official guide to APA style (7th edition) are very useful for unusual reference types.

Principle of citation

The principle of citation is to acknowledge the source in the body of the written work. It provides information for the reader to locate the source in the reference list.

- Put the author's family name, followed by the year of publication.
- Do not include the author's initials in the citation.

- When citing two authors inside brackets, use an ampersand to join the two family names together, e.g. (Levitt & Bamberg, 2017).
- If using Box of Broadcasts (BoB) adapt accordingly. BoB includes films, TV documentaries etc., via the University of Huddersfield subscription.
- If referring to the title of a book, official publication, music album, film within your text, use italics and capital letters for each significant word, e.g. Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone.
- For further rules on capitalisation and/ or punctuation, see the APA 7th Style and Grammar guidelines or the printed Publication manual of the American Psychological Association: the official guide to APA style (7th edition).

Quoting, paraphrasing and summarising

Quoting

Quoting is directly copying the original source and putting the text in quotation marks. You need to acknowledge the original source and add the page numbers so the reader can find the specific text.

- For quotations of under 40 words keep within the paragraph/ text and use double quotation marks.

For example:

It has been argued that there is a “direct correlation between using the library and academic achievement” (Brown, 2008, p. 52).

- For quotations of 40 words or more, do not use quotation marks.
- Display the quotation in a separate and indented paragraph.
- Page numbers (p. for one page, and pp. for more than one page, in lower case, e.g. pp. 34-35).

For example:

The author depicts a society where the characters are just trying to survive:
He tried to teach me reading and writing, too, but Mayor Prentiss caught wind of it in my Noise one morning and locked Ben up for a week and that was the end of my book-learning and what with all that other stuff to learn and all the working on the farm that still has to be done every day and all the just plain surviving. I never ended up reading too good (Ness, 2018, p. 19).

- Use quotations sparingly, they should be used to illustrate your understanding of the main concepts.

Paraphrasing

Paraphrasing is rewriting a section of the original text in your own words. You acknowledge the original source at the end of the paragraph, e.g. Research shows that efficient use of library resources improves academic achievement (Brown, 2019).

- When paraphrasing or referring to an idea contained in another work, you are encouraged to provide a page number, especially when it would help an interested reader locate the relevant section in a long or complex text.

Summarising

- Summarising is to give an overview of the whole resource rather than focussing on a specific section of text. Page numbers are not required.

Citing more than one source to support an argument

- List in alphabetical order by author's family name.

Separate each citation with a semicolon, e.g. Recent studies (Brown, 2008; Jones, 2009; Smith, 2007) show that....

Two or more citations by the same author

- Name the author once.
- Cite the years of publication in date order.

Separate each citation with a comma, e.g. Research shows that efficient use of library resources improves academic achievement (Brown, 2008, 2009).

If you are using two different sources from the same author and date you can distinguish between them by adding a letter to the publication year, e.g. (Jones, 2019a, 2019b).

In the reference list, include the letter with the year and list them in alphabetical order by title, e.g.

Jones, K. (2019a). Losing our minds. http://www.wfh_JonesFamily.net/loss/

Jones, K. (2019b). Working from home. http://www.wfh_JonesFamily.net/wfh/

Secondary citing

This is where you refer to a source that you have not read but that has been cited by another source that you have read.

It is always better to read and cite the original source. “Use secondary sources sparingly, for instance, when the original work is out of print, unavailable through usual sources, or available only in a language that you do not understand” (American Psychological Association, 2020, p. 258).

- Cite the author (and publication year if known) of the original work in the text.
- Follow it with the citation for the secondary source.
- Only include the secondary source in the reference list.

e.g. citation with publication date of original work not known:

Smith (as cited in Brown, 2008, p. 22) argued that...

Brown would be in the reference list not Smith.

e.g. citation with publication date of original work known:

“the form is complicated” (Khan & Poppins, 1998, as cited in Sizemore, 2011, p. 143)

Sizemore would be in the reference list not Khan and Poppins.

Guidance for citing different numbers of authors

- In the table below, the “...” is there to represent text in your assignment.
- This table shows you when to use the “&” (ampersand) and when to use “and”.

Number of Authors	First in-text citation	Subsequent in-text citations
One author	According to Ramsden (2019), when adults return to education... OR ...(Ramsden, 2019).	As first in-text citation
Two authors	Ramsden and Jones (2019) recommend... OR ...(Ramsden & Jones, 2019).	As first in-text citation
Three or more authors	Ramsden et al. (2019) describe... OR ...(Ramsden et al., 2019).	As first in-text citation
Organisation with an acronym	The National Health Service (NHS, 2019) reported... OR ...(National Health Service [NHS], 2019)	The NHS (2019) reported ... OR ... (NHS, 2019).
Unknown author	Cite the title in place of the author. The Handbook of Chocolate Decoration (2019) stated that... ...(The Handbook of Chocolate Decoration, 2019).	As first in-text citation

Reference list

What is a reference list?

- It is a list of all your sources you have cited.
- It is located at the end of your assignment.

- These need to be listed in alphabetical order by author's family name.
- If the reference list contains two or more entries by the same author, list them in chronological order, in order of publication date.
- It should have a title "References".
- Some departments refer to the reference list as a bibliography. Please seek subject specific advice from your tutor.
- Do not use double spacing in the reference list. Use single spacing with a space between each source.
- Do not indent your reference list.

A number of elements must be present in the reference for an item to be easily identified. This includes author, date, title and source. In other words, Who, When, What, Where.

Sample reference list

Note

- Use a comma after the author's initial(s) and before an "&" (ampersand), when there are multiple authors. See examples below, e.g. Krisztian and Lundgren.

Formatting the reference

- You need to use the author’s family name followed by initials, e.g. Kirsty Carver becomes Carver, K. (note the full stop after the abbreviated first name)
- For organisations or companies, use the full title followed by a full stop, e.g. University of Huddersfield.
- Use the “&” (ampersand) to join together two or more authors.
- When your source has multiple authors, refer to the table below:

Number of authors	Example of names at the start of reference
Up to twenty authors list them all and use an ampersand before the final author’s name	Ramsden, B, J., Jones, J., Smith, K., Sharman, A., Carver, K., Briggs, J., & Wilson, M. (2019).
Twenty one or more authors - include the first 19 authors’ names, insert ... (3 dots called an ellipsis) no ampersand, and then add the final author’s name.	Kalnay, E., Kanamitsu, M., Kistler, R., Collins, W., Deaven, D., Gandin, L., Iredell, M., Saha, S., White, G., Woollen, J., Zhu, Y., Chelliah, M., Ebisuzaki, W., Higgins, W., Janowiak, J., Mo, K. C., Ropelewski, C., Wang, J., Leetmaa, A., ... Joseph, D. (1996).
Organisation – write full name not acronym	National Health Service. (2019).

Digital object identifier (DOI)

The digital object identifier (DOI) is used when referencing using APA 7th style. It is a unique and permanent number used to identify electronic documents that stay the same even if there is a change of publisher or web address. The DOI begins with a 10 and contains a prefix and a suffix separated by a slash, e.g. 10.1000/xyz123

The DOI is included in the reference list if an electronic document has one, the format is <https://doi.org/> (followed by the unique numbers/ letter combination).

Do not manually insert line breaks into long DOIs or URLs, i.e. keep them on one line where possible.

Missing information

If any of the information is not available, the reference needs to be adapted. See the table below for guidance:

Missing reference information	What should I do?	In-text	Example reference
Author	Provide title, date and source. Italicise the title if it is italicised in the reference list, e.g. book or artwork. Enclose the title in quotation marks if the title is not italicised in the reference list, e.g. a journal article.	This image creates a feeling of happiness (Sunflower, 2019). The gardening advice provided (“Sunflowers require a sunny spot”, 1989).	Sunflower [Photograph]. Date	Provide author, substitute n.d. for no date, and then give title and source.	(Smith, n.d.).	Smith, S. (n.d.). Sunflower [Photograph]. https://unsplash.com/photos/vKNjdRBqep0
Title	Provide author and date, describe document inside square brackets, and then give source.	(Smith, 2019).	Smith, S. (2019). [Photograph of sunflower]. https://unsplash.com/photos/vKNjdRBqep0
Both author and title	Try to find the details. Consider using another source.	N/A	N/A

General principles to remember

- References need to be consistent in layout and punctuation.
- When in doubt, provide more information rather than less.
- Make a note of the details of the material you use at the time you are using it. It may be very difficult to find the details retrospectively.
- Print and ebooks are formatted the same in the reference list, except that an ebook would have a DOI or URL at the end.
- If an author has more than one first name add a space between each initial. e.g. Author, A. A.
- Capitalise the first letter of title and subtitle.
- Title and subtitle are always separated by a colon.
- Use a colon followed by a space to separate titles and subtitles.
- Include the edition number for all editions other than the first.
- Use abbreviations for editors (Eds.) and edition (ed.).
- Use 'p.' for a single page, 'pp.' for several pages.
- Do not manually add line breaks into long DOIs or URLs.
- If you are referencing a long URL, you are encouraged to use a URL shortening service, e.g. Bitly or TinyURL.
- All links should be live if the work is to be read online. Remove the hyperlink if the work is in a printed format.
- Provide a retrieval date if the content is designed to change over time and is not archived. The format is: Retrieved January 12, 2020, from <https://www.facebook.com/nationalparkservice/>

2. Books (print and ebooks)

Note

- This section refers to books in all formats, print and electronic.
- When quoting from an ebook without page numbers, you can use any of the following to help the reader find your quoted text: the chapter heading, section name, paragraph number.
- Print and ebooks are formatted the same in the reference list, except that an ebook would have a DOI or URL at the end.
- (Ed.) abbreviation for editor (in round brackets, followed by a full stop).
- (Eds.) abbreviation for more than one editor (in round brackets, followed by a full stop).
- List author/editors names in the order they appear on the title page of the book.
- (ed.) abbreviation for edition (in round brackets, followed by a full stop).
- Only include edition if it the second or subsequent edition, i.e. do not mention if it is the first edition of a book.
- Publication details are generally found towards the start of the book. In art books, these are often at the end of the book.
- Ignore the reprint dates.
- If there is more than one publisher, separate each one with a semi-colon.
- Do not use the word “Ltd.” after the name of the publisher.
- When the author and publisher are the same name, do not include the publisher in the reference list.
- Add DOI link for ebooks, if available.
- If no DOI, add a short URL if not found through Summon/ library ebook platform.
- If no DOI and found through Summon/ library ebook provider, then treat as a print book, i.e. include publisher only.

2.1 Books with one or two authors

Format and order

- Authors (family name, comma followed by initials, with full stop and space after each initial)
- (Year of publication). (in round brackets, followed by a full stop)
- Title. (in italics, followed by full stop unless including edition)
- (Edition number ed.). (in round brackets, followed by full stop)
- Publisher. (followed by a full stop)
- DOI or URL (for ebooks only)

2.2 Books with three or more authors

Note

- The in-text citation for a work with 3 or more authors includes only the first author followed by et al. and the year.

Format and order

- Authors (family name, comma followed by initials with full stop and space after each initial)
- (Year of publication). (in round brackets, followed by a full stop)

- Title. (in italics, followed by full stop unless including edition)
- (Edition number ed.) (in round brackets, followed by full stop)
- Publisher. (followed by a full stop)
- DOI or URL (for ebooks only)

In-text citation

2.3 Edited book

Note

- Follow the same citation rule for the number of editors as authors, e.g. for 1 or 2 editors, include both surnames and for 3 or more editors, include first editor's surname and et al.

Format and order

- Editors (family name, comma followed by initials with full stop and space after each initial)
- (Ed.) or (Eds.). (in round brackets, followed by a full stop)
- (Year of publication). (in round brackets, followed by a full stop)
- Title. (in italics, followed by full stop unless including edition)
- (Edition number ed.) (in round brackets, followed by full stop)
- Publisher. (followed by a full stop)
- DOI or URL (for ebooks only)

In-text citation

2.4 Chapter/ section of an edited book

Note

- Editor format is initials first, followed by family name.
- For ebooks without page numbers there is no official guidance in APA. you can use any of the following to help the reader find your quoted text: the chapter heading, section name, paragraph number.

Format and order

- Author(s) (family name, comma followed by initials, with full stop and space after each initial)
- (Year of publication). (in round brackets, followed by a full stop)
- Title of chapter. (first letter capitalised, the rest lowercase, followed by full stop)
- In
- Editor(s) of book followed by (initials of editor, followed by family name)

16. Computer code, software & apps

16.1 Computer code

- If you are writing code for your assignments you must cite and reference anything you have copied or adapted from elsewhere, even if it is open source.
- Also include a note in the code, to indicate where any extracts/ examples/ application programming interfaces (APIs) etc. are being used, and where the original came from. That way, if the code is separated from the report, you have still clearly identified anything that is not your own original work, e.g.

 * A utility class that gives applets the ability to detect proxy host settings.
 * This was adapted from a post from Chris Forster on 20030227 to a Sun
 Java
 * forum here:
 * http://forum.java.sun.com/thread.jspa?threadID=364342&tstart=120
 [...]

- The format of your reference will be based on where you took the code from. For example, if using code you found on a website such as GitHub, use section 23.1: Website. If taken from a book or ebook, use Section 2: Books.

In text citation

16.2 Software/ apps

Note

- Common software and mobile apps mentioned in text but not paraphrased or quoted, do not need citations nor do programming languages.
- When the publisher is the same as the author, omit the publisher from the reference list.

Format and order

- Author(s)/ organisation. (family name, comma followed by initials, with full stop and space after each initial OR organisation, followed by full stop)
- (Year of publication). (in round brackets, followed by full stop)

Note

- Use these types of reference with caution. It is good academic practice to cite the original source to which your lecturer referred, rather than the lecture notes themselves.

Format and order

- Author(s)/ lecturer(s)/ university (family name, comma followed by initials, with full stop and space after each initial OR organisation, followed by full stop)
- (Date). (Year, month day, in round brackets, followed by full stop)
- Title. (in italics, followed by full stop)
- [Description of format]. (e.g. PowerPoint slides, in square brackets, followed by full stop)
- Location. (University department followed by full stop).
- URL

In-text citation

As explained by Smyth in Brightspace (2018).

23. Websites and blogs

Note

- If you cite multiple webpages from a website, create a reference for each.
- If the website does not have a date use n.d. (no date), sometimes the date is right at the bottom of a webpage, e.g. the copyright date.
- Use the organisation name if individual author is unknown.
- If a website does not have an obvious author/ organisation look in the 'about us' section.
- When the website name is the same as the author, omit the website name from the reference list.
- If you are referencing a long URL, you are encouraged to use a URL shortening service, e.g. Bitly or TinyURL.
- All links should be live if the work is to be read online. Remove the hyperlink if the work is in a printed format.
- Only provide a retrieval date if the content is designed to change over time and is not archived. The format is: Retrieved January 12, 2020, from <https://www.facebook.com/nationalparkservice/>
